

Terms and Conditions for awarding Travel Grants to Greece

With its travel grants to Greece, the Schwarzkopf Foundation Young Europe and the Kreuzberger Kinderstiftung want to give young people the opportunity to travel and explore Greece. The country is known as the cradle of Europe, but now has to handle massive challenges that also tackle the European idea itself. The Schwarzkopf Foundation Young Europe offers young people the chance to get to know European neighbours as well as to become aware of current cultural or political developments of the respective country. It is important that these developments have to be seen in context of the guest countries' relations with the EU.

1. The travel grant amounts to € 550 (five hundred and fifty Euros).
400 € will be paid at the beginning of the journey and €150 after presenting the report.
2. Young Europeans between the ages of eighteen and twenty-six may apply for a trip to Greece.
3. Deadlines for applications are March 1st or September 1st . The Foundation notifies applicants of the result of the selection within four weeks after the respective deadlines.
4. The trip needs to have a specifically defined research topic regarding the following question: "How is the Greek youth dealing with the current crises in Europe" relating it either to society, economy and refugees. The precise question needs to be explained and elaborated in the application. The applicant should also state what methods are envisaged to address the topic (e.g. interviews, etc.). A later substantial change of the topic would need to be approved by the Foundation.
5. The trip has to be planned and carried out solely by the recipient and needs to last a minimum of three and a maximum of six weeks.
6. Not later than three months after the journey the stipendiary is requested to submit a detailed report of at least 10 DIN A4 pages. The report needs to include an explanation of how the research topic was addressed, the concrete findings and a reflection on the experiences and impressions from the trip. The stipendiary agrees with the publication of the report by the Foundation.
Invoices providing residence in the travel country will have to be enclosed to the report.
7. Applications and reports must be submitted in German or English.
8. Applications can be submitted by post or via email. With the application the Schwarzkopf Foundation expects:
 - a tabular curriculum vitae,
 - a definition of the research topic and justification of the choice of the country,
 - details on the envisaged methods to address the research topic as well as the planned travel route,
 - a completed and signed application form.
