WHAT WE DO

The European Youth Parliament is a unique educational platform that empowers young people from across Europe to be open-minded, active citizens. It provides participants with a forum to develop and express their opinions on a wide range of topics. By bringing young people from different backgrounds closer together, it also promotes intercultural dialogue and exchange. Through our activities, our EYP participants and volunteers are equipped with the knowledge and skills to positively shape the world around them.

The EYP network has an open, safe and welcoming environment - run by young people, for young people. Offering a range of non-formal and peer-led educational activities, the EYP provides young people with the space to grow, learn various skills, as well as to take responsibility for themselves and for others. Every year, more than 3500 young volunteers implement EYP activities across Europe, acting as moderators, organisers and facilitators during events. Moreover, it is young people who jointly steer our organisation at large and shape the future of the programme.

The main activities of the European Youth Parliament are “sessions”. These events bring together over 30000 young people per year to discuss, build mutual understanding, and gain expertise. EYP sessions vary in length, from two hours to ten days. Debates cover a wide range of topics - often related to international politics or human rights, but also including fields such as climate change, health and energy. The EYP does not reflect specific country positions or promote existing policy proposals. In all debates, it is the participants’ opinions that matter. Guided by peer moderators, young people take part in a series of activities:

TEAMBUILDING

Experience-based methodology is used for outdoor and indoor games and activities in order to form international working groups and set ground rules for cooperation.

COMMITTEE WORK

Participants convene in international working groups and discuss current European topics, with the aim of proposing solutions in the form of written resolutions.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY

All committees come together to debate their proposed resolutions during the General Assembly, following standard parliamentary procedures.

CULTURAL PROGRAMME

Throughout the session, a cultural programme gives the participants opportunities to get acquainted with each other’s cultures and traditions.

OUR REACH

Each year, the European Youth Parliament organises over 500 events and brings together around 30,000 participants from across Europe.

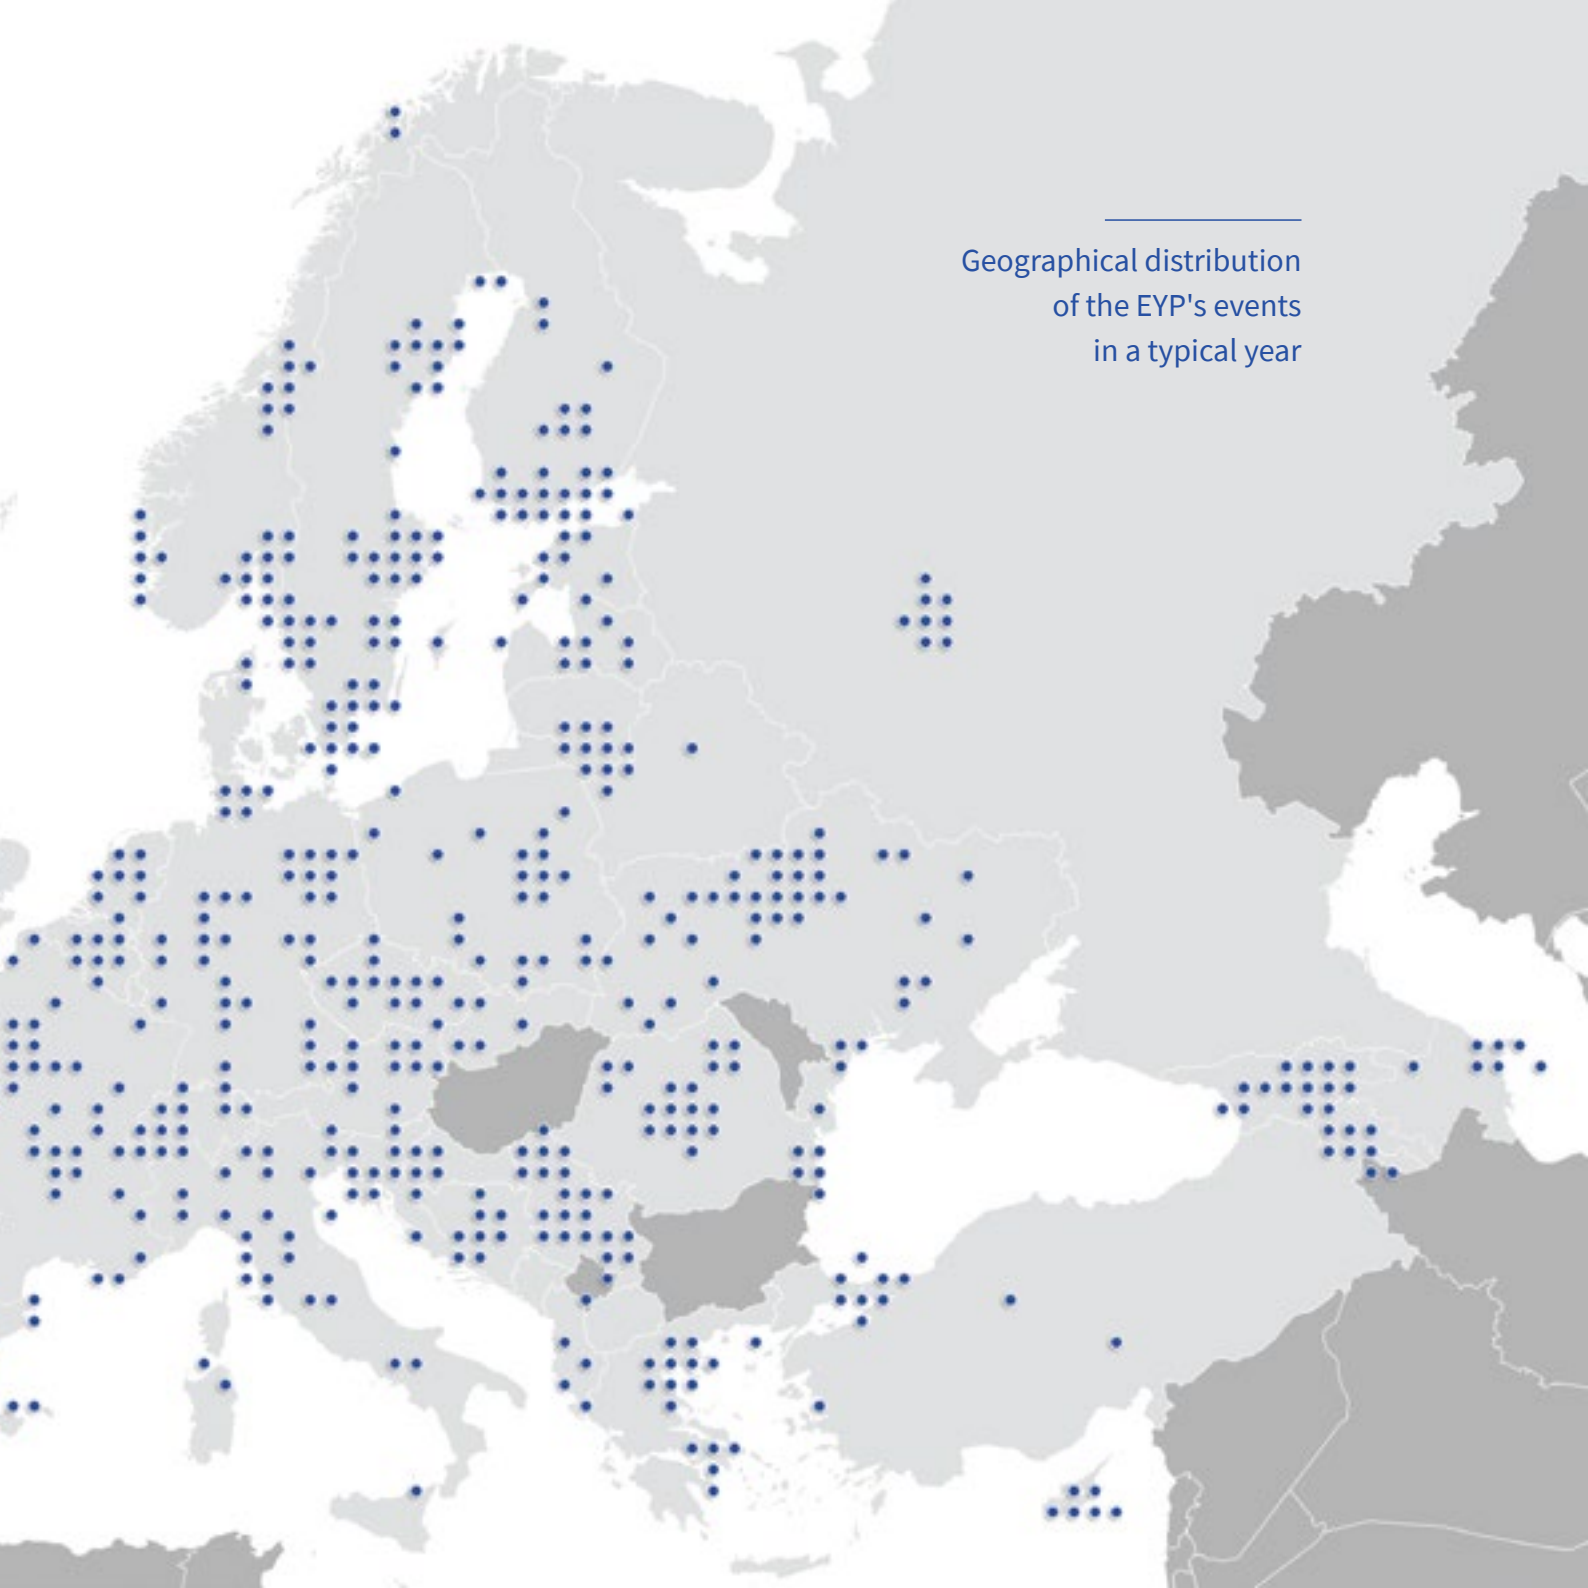

The EYP relies on a lively network of 40 member organisations across Europe - coordinated through a youth-led governance structure and supported by an International Office in Berlin.

“After traveling to an EYP session, I realised that Europe is not determined by geography. Europe is in our mentality, in our culture and in our minds. It’s our connecting point.”
